QUICK Verlag

September 10, 1984

Mr. William Casey
Central Intelligence Agency
McLean, Virginia

Dear Mr. Casey:

I represent QUICK MAGAZINE, a West German publication with six million readers who are becoming increasingly interested in American news developments.

As a leader in American affairs, I am sure you understand the impact that your views and our readership will have on the fateful events that now lie before us.

We earnestly seek your comments on matters of current interest and offer the opportunity of being interviewed by an informed and professional team of journalists from our magazine. Assigned to this responsibility are: U.S. correspondent [redacted] reporter [redacted] and political editor [redacted] who is coming to the United States to specifically participate in this interview.

To achieve the greatest validity of your views and to our publication of them throughout the European continent, we are requesting that we be granted an interview with you and contact with your staff to fully inform our readers on the matters with which you are so well informed and dedicated.

QUICK is a magazine of general circulation similar in content to TIME in this country. Our magazine is read not only in Germany but in Austria, Switzerland, Holland, Belgium, The Netherlands, Italy, Spain, Latin America, the Near East, Africa as well as in the United States. In the past, we have had interviews with many of the most important political and economic leaders of the world.

Please feel free to call us at 212-644-6360. Or, considering the urgency of the matters that mutually affect us, may we call you for a response to this inquiry.

Sincerely yours,
